

SPREMI

Thursday, 20 February 2025
15.15 – 17.00, Helikon (A202, Arken) & Zoom

The Rise of Christian Nationalism in the U.S.: Causes, Complications, and Consequences

Bobbi Reiman
KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt

Zoom:
<https://aboakademi.zoom.us/j/66312703059>
Meeting ID: 663 1270 3059

Bobbi Reimann has been an instructor of American English at the KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt since 2006, where she regularly teaches courses on American Cultural Studies, English Grammar and Vocabulary, Text Production and Stylistics, American Pronunciation, and English Communication in a Globalized World. Her primary research interests include American politics, intersections between gender and the media, media framing, gender-inclusive city planning, and U.S. environmental policy. Her current research focuses on the polarization of American society and intersections between politics and religion.

ABOUT THE TALK

The United States of America is in the throes of an identity crisis, causing American society to become ever more divided, something which has been playing out in the culture wars and could also be seen in the 2024 U.S. presidential election. This polarization can be linked to Christian nationalism, which blends religious identity with national governance to the detriment of democratic principles. This talk will outline the historical roots of Christian nationalism and examine some key legislative efforts and broader cultural and political shifts signaling an erosion of the separation of church and state before considering threats to American governance, society, and democracy posed by Christian nationalist principles and actions.

The SPREMI-seminars are open to all – welcome!

SPREMI

Thursday, 20 February 2025
15.15 – 17.00, Helikon (A202, Arken) & Zoom

The Rise of Christian Nationalism in the U.S.: Causes, Complications, and Consequences

Bobbi Reiman
KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt

Zoom:
<https://aboakademi.zoom.us/j/66312703059>
Meeting ID: 663 1270 3059

Bobbi Reimann has been an instructor of American English at the KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt since 2006, where she regularly teaches courses on American Cultural Studies, English Grammar and Vocabulary, Text Production and Stylistics, American Pronunciation, and English Communication in a Globalized World. Her primary research interests include American politics, intersections between gender and the media, media framing, gender-inclusive city planning, and U.S. environmental policy. Her current research focuses on the polarization of American society and intersections between politics and religion.

ABOUT THE TALK

The United States of America is in the throes of an identity crisis, causing American society to become ever more divided, something which has been playing out in the culture wars and could also be seen in the 2024 U.S. presidential election. This polarization can be linked to Christian nationalism, which blends religious identity with national governance to the detriment of democratic principles. This talk will outline the historical roots of Christian nationalism and examine some key legislative efforts and broader cultural and political shifts signaling an erosion of the separation of church and state before considering threats to American governance, society, and democracy posed by Christian nationalist principles and actions.

The SPREMI-seminars are open to all – welcome!

SPREMI

Thursday, 20 February 2025
15.15 – 17.00, Helikon (A202, Arken) & Zoom

The Rise of Christian Nationalism in the U.S.: Causes, Complications, and Consequences

Bobbi Reiman
KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt

Zoom:
<https://aboakademi.zoom.us/j/66312703059>
Meeting ID: 663 1270 3059

Bobbi Reimann has been an instructor of American English at the KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt since 2006, where she regularly teaches courses on American Cultural Studies, English Grammar and Vocabulary, Text Production and Stylistics, American Pronunciation, and English Communication in a Globalized World. Her primary research interests include American politics, intersections between gender and the media, media framing, gender-inclusive city planning, and U.S. environmental policy. Her current research focuses on the polarization of American society and intersections between politics and religion.

ABOUT THE TALK

The United States of America is in the throes of an identity crisis, causing American society to become ever more divided, something which has been playing out in the culture wars and could also be seen in the 2024 U.S. presidential election. This polarization can be linked to Christian nationalism, which blends religious identity with national governance to the detriment of democratic principles. This talk will outline the historical roots of Christian nationalism and examine some key legislative efforts and broader cultural and political shifts signaling an erosion of the separation of church and state before considering threats to American governance, society, and democracy posed by Christian nationalist principles and actions.

The SPREMI-seminars are open to all – welcome!